

Where would we be if nobody took a risk?

Revisiting the place where Alf Altmann started his epic effort to row solo across Bass Strait.