Thriving on flower power

Andy and Debbie Doeven live the kind of life that most people only fantasise about while staring out the window from their desk job. It has been more than 20 years since the pair decided to uproot from suburban Melbourne and start afresh …